MARRIED AT HIGH NOON

Miss Hays of Ashton Missouri and Mr. Bubb of Williamsport Were the Happy Couple

MANY GUESTS WITNESS THE EVENT

The Beautiful Home of Mrs. W. P. Wilson On High Street Was Tuesday the Scene of a Pretty Nuptial Ceremony.

One of the prettiest weddings ever solemnized in Bellefonte was that at high noon Tuesday at the home of Mrs. W. P. Wilson on High street, by which Miss Anna M. Hayes of Ashton, Missouri, and Mr. Harris Clay Bubb, of Williamsport, were united for life

For several days preparations were being made and by Tuesday everything was in perfect readiness for the happy event. The ceremony was performed in the spacious east parlor. It was here that skilled hands had transformed the walls and ceiling into a veritable net work of fragrant flowers. Palms, ferns and potted plants were massed along the side of the room in profusion, while interwoven here and there were endless chains of evergreen. It was indeed a fairy picture and made a beautiful back ground for the pretty wedding ceremony. Promptly at the appointed hour, the two little ribbon girls, Miss Elizabeth Gephart of Bellefonte, and Miss Rachael Stearns of Williamsport, slowly made their way and formed the aisle from the hall. Next came the maid of honor, Miss Blanche Hayes, of Bellefonte, a half-sister of the bride. The bride and groom then appeared and to Lohengrin's wedding march, skillfully rendered by Lettan and Chappell's orchestra from Williamsport they made their way to the altar. Then they were met by Dr. William Laurie, L. L. D., pastor of the Presbyterian church, who by a simple ceremony made the happy couple man and wife. After the ceremony congratulations were in order and for some time the newly married couple were showered with the best wishes for the future. The bride was dressed in a gown of white satin, trimmed with duchess and point lace and orange blossoms and wore a veil. She carried a handsome boquet of brides roses while the groom wore the conventional black. Miss Blanche Hayes, the maid of honor, wore a gown of pink Organdi, and carried a boquet of pink roses. The Misses Gephart and Stearns, the little ribbon girls, wore gowns of white, trimmed with pink ribbons, and carried baskets of pink roses.

After the wedding ceremony the guests repaired to the west parlor where the refreshments were served. During this hour, the orchestra hidden behind a screen of flowers, rendered sweet and enchanting music which made the occasion all the merrier.

Later in the day the wedding couple departed for an extended bridal tour, after which they will locate permanently in Williamsport.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Alfred Hayes of Ashton, Missouri, and has every qualification necessary to make a good wife. The groom is a member of the firm of Messrs. George Bubb and Sons, wholesale grocers at Williamsport, and is one of that city's best known and popular young men.

The guests came to Bellefonte in a special car. They were Mr. Alfred Hayes, of Ashton, Missouri, and Mrs. George Bubb, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Bubb, Hon. and Mrs. H. C. McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. James S. Lewars, Mr. and Mrs. John K. Hays, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Gibson, Miss Alice M. Bubb, Miss Nellie T. Bubb, Miss Katharine Stearns, Miss Katharine Burrows Miss Rachael Stearns, Mr. George L. Bubb, Mr. J. SHE MAY BE ACQUITTED.

Mrs. CharlotteHowell Charged with the Murder of Miss Knapp.

A SENSATION SPRUNG YESTERDAY.

She Causes the Arrest of the Detective Who Worked Up the Case Against Her on the Charge of Improper Proposals.

Wellsboro, Pa., Dec 11.—This afternoon when court adjourned the taking of testimony closed in the case of Mrs. Charlotte Howell, who being tried on the charge of the murder of Miss Elizabeth Knapp. To-morrow the arguments will be begun, but it is likely that they will not be completed so that the judge can make his charge and give the case to the jury before Friday It is generally regarded as rather more than probable that the jury will acquit Mrs. Howell of the crime, as the case against her has been wholly circumstantial.

Under the rulings of the court, the commonwealth has been deprived of some links considered important in its chain of evidence, while the defense has shown Mrs. Howell's good reputation at Tioga, where she lived, and her apparent utter lack of motive for the crime. In addition by a number of witnesses she has been placed where it would have been impossible for her to have sent the scandalous letters which have figured so largely in the case.

To-day Mrs. Howell was questioned all the forenoon under cross examination as to seemingly trivial matters concerning Miss Knapp's life while with her and as to how the letters were received. She has not once contradicted herself while on the stand. This afternoon the only important testimony was that of Mr. Samuel Adams, who testified that Rightmire, Miss Knapp's discarded lover once said to him that if he couldn't "have Libbie Knapp, no other fellow should have her," and this after their engagement had been broken off by the girl.

This morning a sensation was created when it became known that Mrs. Howell had made an "information" against Dupignac, the New Yor detective who worked up the case against her, charging him with having made improper proposals to her in the district attorneys office here last August. Dupignac was arrested, and promptly gave bail. Mrs. Howell previously, during the trial, testified to the detective's approaches, and Dupignac, at the time, indignantly denied the story. He offered to prove, by half a dozen respected and prominent citizens of this place that he was not in the room an instant, and that Howell lied as to the incidents she related about their alleged interview. The testimony of the preferred witnesses, however was ruled out.

Cambria Commissioners Must Disgorge.

Ebensburg, Pa., Dec. 9.—A decision adverse to the county commissioners was rendered by Judge Barker to-day. The commissioners, since 1861, have been drawing a salary at the rate of $3.50 per day, although according to the opinion just filed they were entitled to but $400 per year under a special act applicable to Cambria county.

The result of the matter will be that J. G. Lloyd and P. E. Dillon, commissioners and the heirs of John Kirby, deceased, will be compelled to refund $4,507.50 in addition to the amount overdrawn for 1895.

Cash Is Wanted and Not Excuses.

Harrisburg, Dec. 11.—The attorney general has served notice upon twenty-nine delinquent railroad corporations owing to their failure to make reports to the secretary of internal affairs. Several of the companies are making all manner of excursion in order to avoid payment of the $5,000 penalty.

All Clear.

"He was a beautiful dog,,' said the visitor, doing her best to offer sympathy. "It must be a real bereavement to have lost him. Can't—can't you take his remains to a taxidermist?"

"I think," said Mrs. Gofrequent, with a fresh burst of tears, "we have already paid the taxes on him."

Murder in Allegheny County.

Pittsburg, Dec. 8.—Luigi Stertini was shot and killed at an Italian dance at Heidelberg, this county, late last night. A half dozen others were wounded by either being cut or shot. Five of the participants have been arrested.

—At last the snow is here. Although there have been hundreds longing for it, still there were few who were willing to go out and shovel it.

FREIGHT CHARGES REDUCED.

More Interesting Matter from the Bureau of Railways' Report.

Harrisburg, Dec. 8.—Among other interesting matter in the forthcoming report of the bureau of railways will be a chapter on freight charges. It will show a great reduction in rates by the railroads of Pennsylvania. There has been a gradual reduction of rates except in the case of the Philadelphia and Reading, which managed to keep up its charges last year to 1025 of a cent per ton per mile. In 1894 the rate per ton per mile in the United States was .800. The report will dwell upon the reduction of freight charges and the advantages to shippers while the income of the stockholders has been steadily decreasing in the same proportion, the betterment of the transportation facilities bringing no improvement in the way of receipts.

The total outstanding stock capitalization of steam railways of Pennsylvania reported to the department is $946,312,960. The funded or bonded debt is $962,294,539 making a total stock and funded indebtedness of $1,908,597,490, independent of current liabilities, which are reported at $123,907,682. The capitalization of the Pennsylvania is $129,299,750, and the funded debt $78,805,830. While the Philadelphia and Reading has a smaller stock capitalization than any of the five leading companies mentioned in the report, it has a bonded indebtedness far in excess of any of them. One fifth of the total capitalization of ten billions in the United States is represented by the roads reporting to this department.

Too Spry For $16 a Month.

John Mason, of Damascus, Wayne county, Pa., is a veteran of the late war and a pensioner. A few days ago a stranger, representing himself as a New York city sportsman, secured lodgings there, representing that he came to hunt game in that vicinity. The alleged hunter entertained the veteran's evenings by stories of his prowess as an all-round athlete. This led to a challenge from Mason, who wagered that he could outdo him in feats of strength. In the contest the pensioner won. He [illegible] he hadn't. The supposed [illegible] left immediately, and on Friday Mason received a letter from Washington notifying him that his pension had been cut down from $16 to $8 a month. He had proved himself too vigorous for the disabilities called for in his pension papers. The stranger was an inspector from the pension bureau.

Works Shut down.

McKeesport, Pa., Dec. 8.—Yesterday afternoon the butt and weld department of the National Tube works shut down and will not start up again until the first of the year. By the suspension about 3,000 men and boys will get a month's vacation. It is given out that the cause of the shutdown is to make repairs, but heretofore only two weeks have been taken for this work.

Earned the Title.

A minister was dunned for the money for a piano purchased by his church. On refusal to pay, he received a letter from a New York collection agency:

"Rev.———, Dear Sir:—Unless you remit at once, we shall publish you all over the country as a Delinquent Debtor. Yours, etc.,

To which he replied:

"Gentlemen:—Ever since I entered the ministry I have been struggling for the title of D. D. Go ahead. Respectfully,

A Tax for Good Roads.

About eight o'clock on Sunday evening our esteemed townsman, John T. Johnson, who for some time has been in poor health was walking along Allegheny street on his way to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aiken, where his wife was spending the evening. When he reached Blair's jewelry store he suddenly became ill and had to lean against the store window for support. He was found in this condition by editor Charles Kurtz and Harry Jackson. He was unable to talk at first but after some time he finally made them understand he wanted to go to Aiken's house. He was taken there and after restoratives had been administered he gradually recovered It was very fortunate that he was found as soon as he was as his health would not stand much exposure. It is to be hoped that he will soon be entirely well and that he will not be so unfortunate as to take sick on the street again.

By means of the views and brief explanations by Theodore C. Knauff, it was impressively related who would suffer from the free coinage of silver, and the pictures of the leaders on both sides of the issue were presented.

It is the intention of the League to repeat this lecture to the workingmen and others in various parts of the city during the winter months."

The Anniversary of the Standard Dictionary.

The Funk & Wagnalls company celebrated on November 27th, the first anniversary of the completion of their "Standard Dictionary," by putting to press the 90th thousand of this great work. This is a very large number of dictionaries to print in a single year. The publishers' mathematician has figured out that, if these 90,000 sets were piled flat one upon another, they would reach nearly seven miles in height; and the printed pages, if laid end to end, would extend over 40,000 miles, one and three fifths times around the globe!

But the most significant of the triumphs of the first year of this remarkable dictionary, and the most gratifiying to Americans, is the wonderful reception given the work by the most exacting of the linguistic critics in England. Especially is this so when we remember how reluctant naturally enough, the English are to look to a foreign country for a dictionary of their own tongue. It is something extraordinary for an American work of this kind to elicit words of such enthusiastic praise as those uttered by such scholars of the Oxford University as Professor Sayce and Max Muller, and well known scholars of other English universities, and from such journalistic critics as those of the London Standard, Saturday Review, Notes and Queries, Nature, London Times, Westminister Review, Athenoenm' Mark-Lane Express, Scotsman, Liverpool Post, St. James's Budget. The latter closes his critical review with the following superlative indorsement:

"To say that it is perfect in form and scope is not extravagance of praise, and to say that it is the most valuable dictionary of the English language is but to repeat the obvious. The Standard Dictionary should be the pride of literary America, as it is the admiration of literary England."

May the triumphs of the second year of this Dictionary equal those of the first; they could not well exceed them!

Another feature of this first anniversary of the publication of the Standard Dictionary was the forwarding, from the Pennsylvania depot for Michigan, of a big freight car loaded wholly with Standard Dictionaries. Large letters on muslin across the sides of the car told the public of the contents.

A Double Murderer.

New Castle, Pa., Dec. 8.—M. C. Judd, the Pittsburg and Lake Erie telegraph operator jailed here Friday for the murder of Henry Huff at Mahoningtown, may yet have to answer for a second murder. Earley Friday morning before Judd had seen Huff, he had a quarrel with Benjamin Pitzer, of Mahonington. Pitzer had a hammer in his pocket, and during the quarrel Judd seized it and struck Pitzer a blow on the head. It staggered him and he fell on his hands and knees. Judd then threw the hammer down and walked away. Pitzer was compelled to take his bed, and he is reported in a critical condition. It is feared his skull is fractured, or that there is a blood clot forming inside.

The funeral services of Henry Huff, the murdered man, this afternoon was held in the Methodist Episcopal church. It was the largest ever known in Mahoningtown. The Knight of Pythias lodges of this city went down on a special train. Judd is taking things calmly at the county jail, and spent this forenoon singing Moody and Sankey hymns with the other prisoners.

Dr. J. A. Dower, the great "divine healer" of Chicago, had promised her that their use would be restored this morning, and his prophecy was fulfilled. Miss Shroff is overjoyed at her deliverance, which has created intense excitement here.

Church Thieves.

New Castle, Pa., Dec. 5.—A stampede was caused at the Mount Jackson Methodist Episcopal church last night by the announcement that overcoats and other wraps had been stolen from the vestibule during service. A description of the thieves given by Lewis Gailey caused suspicion to be thrown upon the Ramsey brothers, who live in a shanty in the woods. Edward Mathialt, John Bitts, Frank Heoer, William Lusk and John Titus went to the shanty. The Ramseys denied their guilt and ran out of their shanty, closely followed by Pitts. They locked the remsinder of the searching party in and chased Pitts into a coal bank. The Ramseys armed themselves with picks and threatened to kill anyone who tried to escape from the shanty. Pitts was two hours in the coal bank, and at last made his way out by drawing a revolver and intimidating the Ramseys.

Those confined in the shanty forced their way out, but had no sooner emerged than the Ramseys charged at them with picks. In their efforts to escape Titus and Heber fell over a steep bank into the creek. They broke the ice to shore and reached home with their clothing frozen stiff. Constable Given went to look for the Ramseys, but found that they had fled. None of the stolen property was discovered.

TAKING CHANCES.

WOMEN ARE CARELESS.

They Over-Estimate Their Physical Strength. Advice to Young Women.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Women are very apt to over-estimate their strength and overtax it.

When they are feeling particularly well, they sometimes take chances which in the long run cause them much pain and trouble. This is due largely to their not fully realizing how delicate their sensitive organism is.

The girl who has just become a woman can hardly be expected to act wisely, everything is so new to her. She, however, should be told; and every woman should realize that to be well her "monthly periods" should be regular. Wet feet, or a cold from exposure, may suppress or render irregular and fearfully painful the menses, and perhaps sow the seed for future ill health.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will ever be the unfailing remedy in such cases as well as all the peculiar ailments of women. Millions of women live to prove this. Mrs. M. L. Verrill tells plainly what it has done for her:—

"I will write you a few lines to tell you what my troubles were before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It was the same old story,—my back and lower part of my abdomen and painful menstruation. Of course it was female weakness. The doctors (I have tried five different ones) called it chronic inflammation of the womb.

"I had leucorrhœa for over eight years, ulcers on the neck of the womb, terrible headaches and backaches. Your medicine completely cured me." — MRS. M. L. VERRILL, 223 Newell Ave., Pawtucket, R.I.

The Farmer Had Plenty of Fun.

Doylestown, Pa., Dec. 4.—A gang of bunco thieves endeavored to rob Abel M. Griffiith, a wealthy farmer, of New Britain township, but were unsuccessful. They tried the same game with which they hoped to swindle Theodore Carnell, of Newtown township, about ten days ago. They said they were anxious to purchase a farm. The first swindler told Mr. Griffith he was willing to pay any price demanded for his farm, as his only son was fast becoming dissipated in Philadelphia and he desired to get him into the country. Upon being told by Mr. Griffith that he did not wish to sell, the stranger asked the farmer to drive over to colmar with him to see another farm. As the stranger appeared to be well acquainted with a number of relatives of Mr. Griffith, the latter desired to treat him courteously and consented. They had not proceeded far, however, before they met another stranger who inquired about the farms in the neighborhood. Before they reached Colmar, still another buncoer presented himself. By this time Mr. Griffith's suspicions had been aroused, and when the third man threw between $5,000 and $6,000 in his lap and his companion suggested a little game to get the money, his suspicions were confirmed. Griffith told them he was up to their game, and would not give ten cents for all the money in his lap and demanded that they take him home immediately. This the swindler who first appeared on the scene did, but as soon as the farmer was out of his buggy he whipped up his horse and disappeared.

—We are under obligations to the proprietor of the Hotel Lafayatte corner Broad and Chestnut streets Philadelphia, for an invitation to the opening of their famous hostelrie on Wednesday evening Dec. 4. The fame of the Lafayette is wide spread, and since it has been so magnificently repaired and refurnished, the accommodations are simply palatial, while its cuisine would satisfy the most critical of epicures. Stop there when you go to Philadelphia and you'll not regret it.

—Tobias Evans, a farmer was accidentally and perhaps fatally shot near West Newton, Pa., by David Shelkey yesterday while they were preparing to go on hunt.

A little tale I would rehearse
Of one, once sick, who soon grew worse,
With boils and blotches covered o' er,
He took of remedies (?) a score.
Alas, they all did fail to heal,
While he each day still worse did feel.
Up spoke a friend "Your blood's impure
"But Dr. Pierce can heal you sure
"His 'G. M. D.' will quickly cure."
Like balm on wounds these words were poured.
The sick man's health was soon restored.

Impure blood is caused by want of healthy action on the part of the liver. Dr, Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best remedy in the world for livers, and for purifying the blood and system from all poisons and impurities of whatever name or nature.

—The age of advancement has struck Lewisburg, Woman's dress reform, woman's rights, and woman's athletic development are being strenuously agitated. "Passes Free," You Know.

One of the beauties and charms of an editor's life is his dead-heading it on all occasions. One who has never tasted of the sweets of that bliss can begin to take in its glory and happiness. He who does $200 worth of advertising for a railroad gets a pass occasionally; rides $25 worth; and then he is looked upon as a dead-head or dead-beat. He "puffs" a concert troop $20 worth and gets $3 in complimentaries," and is thus passed, 'free." He blows and puffs a church, 'estival free, to any desired extent. and rarely gets a "thank you" for it. It goes as part of his duty as an editor. He does more work gratuitiously for the town and community than all the rest of the population put together and gets cursed for i all, while in many instances a man who donates a few dollars on Fourth of July, base ball club, or a church, is gratefully remembered. Oh it is a sweet thing to be an editor, he passes "free you know.—Lock Haven Democrat.

Death of Wm. Thompson.

A sad death was that of the venerable William Thompson at his home in Lemont at 10 o'clock Thursday night. The deceased was about 75 years of age and leaves a son to mourn his death. By the death of Mr. Thompson, the community in which he lived has sustained a loss which will be keenly felt for many years to come. His death was caused by a general breaking down in health; and although he had almost reached the four-score mark, yet he was very active up until about a year ago when his weakness made him retire from any business. The time for the funeral has not yet been announced.

Table Talk.

On account of its usefulness, there are few magazines that are of as much interest to housekeepers as "TABLE TALK," which is the exponant of all good living. The December number gives promise of many savory dishes which may be concocted from the recipes in the "Housekeepers Inquiry Department," and under "Creole Recipes." It also has a menu for every day in the month, the one for Christmas dinner being most appetizing and at the same time, plain and substantial. The Christmas entertainment is worthy of trial we are sure, as this monthly article always suggests the latest in this line, and so planned and described as to insure success. Christmas Day itself is pleasantly treated by Mrs. Burton Kingsland, while Octave Thanet gives a glimpse of western life in her entertaining way. The holiday treasures or toys for the children are touched upon by Mrs. M. C. Myer, who also gives another paper on "The History of Lace." Other subjects treated are "Diet in Rheumatism and Gout," by Dr. H. H. Hawxhurst; "In Woman's Line;" "Novelties;" some of the holiday books in "Under the Holly Boughs" and "Fashionable Luncheon and Tea Toilets," by Miss Tillie May Forney. Any of our readers are offered a sample copy of the magazine free, if they will address the Table Talk Publishing Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent.

Washington, Dec. 9th 1895.

The meeting of the Republican National Committee on Tuesday attracted more attention in Washington this week than Congress. The reason is obvious. The Senate can transact little, if any, important business until the question of reorganization has been settled, and the House can do little until Speaker Reed announces the committees, while the National Committee will decide when and where the convention that will nominate the next president will be held. Delegations are here actively working for the six cities which are competing for the honor of entertaining the Convention. While the members of the committee are reticent on the subject the confidence of the Chicago contingent is such that nearly everybody who is not actively championing some other city seems to be of the opinion that the convention will be held in that city, and the belief is general that June will be the month.

Incidentally with the meeting of the National Committee a crowd of enthusiastic McKinleyites have descended upon Washington and opened headquarters for the purpose of pushing along the boom of Ohio's favorite son, which they consider not only a good thing but the best thing of its kind now on the road. They found plenty of sympathizers in Washington, as few men have more personal friends in Congress than Gov. McKinley, and few of those friends have warmer feelings for him than the big man—in every sense of the word—who presides over the House and who is one of his rivals for the presidential nomination. The two men worked side by side in the house for a long period and fully understand each other's worth, and, while neither would probably say as much for publication, it would be a good guess to say that each of them is the other's second choice for President; but it must not be inferred from such a guess that either would sulk should the National Convention in its assembled wisdom decide to nominate one of the other capable and popular gentlemen who have been mentioned. They are both republicans of the tried and true kind, who always work their hardest for party success regardless of who may head the ticket.

For a man who lays claim to more than an average share of courage, Mr. Cleveland has a queer—not to put a worse construction upon it—way of acting. Although he knew that Congress and the country were deeply interested in the answer to the administration's request to know whether Great Britain intended to submit the Venezuelan boundary dispute to arbitration, and that the answer would be in Secretary Olney's hands on Saturday, he slunk off on a duck hunting trip, aboard of a Government Light house tender, without even setting a time for his return, leaving Congress and the country to await his august pleasure before being permitted to see that answer, which is known to be unsatisfactory. He may not have been afraid to face the music raised by his unexpected stand in favor of the Monroe doctrine, but there are people who believe he is, and that he went away hoping that Congress would take the bit in its teeth, demand the correspondence of Secretary Olney, and dictate a reply to Lord Salisbury before he returned to Washington. That may be putting the case a little too strong, but there can be no doubt that Mr. Cleveland's absence at this time is disrespectful to Congress and to the American people and unjustifiable from any point of view.

While it is probable that the republicans of the House will hold a caucus after the committees are announced before definitely deciding what shall be done to furnish the Treasury with the money which Mr. Cleveland would not ask for, although he and everybody else knows how badly it is needed, the expression of members make it practically certain that the money will be raised by increasing the tariff on a number of articles.

It is regarded as probable that the claims of the Western senators for the chairmanships of the Senate committees which have to do exclusively with Western affairs will be almost if not entirely granted by the caucus committee of republican senators now engaged in selecting republicans for the vacant committee places; hence there are no believers of the silly story of an intended revolt on the part of Western republicans.

In offering the resolution asking for all the correspondence in the Waller case, Representative Miller, of Kansas, was acting for the entire Congressional delegation of his state. This is the first step in the fight that is to be made in Congress to secure for Waller what the administration has failed to get for him—justice.

Badly Scalded.

Mrs. John Croak, East Walnut street, is suffering from severe burns to her ankles. Monday afternoon while washing she accidentally tilted a boiler filled with clothes and hot water on to her person, the water pouring over her limbs below the knees. Nearly frantic with pain, Mrs. Croak jumped into a tub of cold water, which greatly increased the soreness of the burns. The lady afterwards became seriously ill, her heart having been affected by the shock. A physician was summoned who applied the necessary remedies. To-day Mrs. Croak was reported as improving.—Lock Haven Democrat.

If a flowering plant does not blossom, there's little beauty in it. If it is sick and faded and withered and lifeless, nobody cares for it. It falls short of its object in being. It is incomplete—unfinished.

Times without number women have been likened to flowers—and rightly. But what of her whose physical condition corresponds with the blossomless plant? What of the woman whom weakness has made not wholly and wholesomely a woman? Many things lead to derangement of a woman's delicate organism. It may be due to carelessness. It may be due to ignorance fostered by mistaken parents on the plea of preserving modesty.

It may result from improper treatment of some minor trouble. Whatever sickness a woman has, it seems always to affect the organs which make her a woman and these in turn work upon all the rest. There is much insanity among women. It is really surprising that there is not more.

The troubles peculiar to their sex work strongly on the nerves. They drag upon the most delicate nerves in the body and the inflammation always present causes a debilitating drain that will enervate the most robust.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has brought comfort and health to thousands of suffering women. For many years, Dr. Pierce has been Chief Consulting Physician at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute at Buffalo, N. Y. He has used the "Favorite Prescription" all the time, with uniform success. With it, there is no need of the commonly insisted upon distressing examinations and "local treatment." Ten cents sent to World's Dispensary Medical Association, will bring a book of 168 pages, sealed in a plain envelope.

After The Great Flood.

No sooner has one man struck out in on original idea than he has scores of imitators who are ever ready to benefit themselver with the pickings of other men's brains, and in no case is it more marked than the one at issue. The great Powell, who will appear at Garman's Opera House, Monday evening Dec. 16, will introduce his latest and original illusion entitled "After the Flood." It is performed in a masterly manner as is all of his great works and it fairly astounds his audiences. The attention is called to a prettily designed ark of miniature size, which at the beginning of the proceedings is found to be quite empty. The spectators having had every opportunity of reviewing the interior. The sides are closed and a quantity of water is poured in through the roof. A pistol is then fired and its report is the signal for a procession of birds and beasts to emerge from the ark and the manner of their egress is highly diverting.

At the conclusion of this essay in natural history the sides of the ark are again displaced and the recumbent form of a pretty young lady is discovered attired as Noah. This is one of the best of the many original tricks introduced to an astonished public by the Great Powell.

—Andrew Riffle, of Morrellvill, on Friday evening fell over the Pennsylvania railroad embankement in the Thirtieth ward, Johnstown, facturing his skull.

—The Union Avenue Methodist Episcopal church of Alliance, O., was dedicated Sunday, a large number of prominent ministers taking part in the ceremonies.

—Joe Hoke and family, of Newport Perry county, narrowly escaped suffocation by stove gas one night last week. Fortunately the heat had been turned off so that the quantity of gas to escape was not so large. It was, however, sufficient to make Mr. Hoke and family feel the effects for several days.

—The Great Powell will have a very large audience to greet him at Garman's opera house on Monday evening Dec. 16. His performance is a delightfully entertaining and attractive one for the ladies and children, and the little folks laugh and go into ecstacy at his wonderful feats and illusions. By all means take the children to see Powell. They will remember his great performance through lifetime, and he especially caters to the pleasure and enjoyments of the little ones.

Rochester, Pa., Dec. 10.—The Allegheny presbytery meeting in the First Presbyterian church to-day disposed of the Westminster church (Allegheny) difficulty. The pastor, Rev. John Graham, tendered his resignation, but a majority of the members of his congregation refused to join in the request to presbytery for dissolution of the pastoral relations. Two commissioners from the congregation were at the meeting to-day, and made vigorous speeches against the dissolution of the pastoral relations. One of them stated that if the pastor left it would disrupt the congregation, and that the faction supporting the pastor was abundantly able to do so without the aid of the others.

Rev. Mr. Graham said he was in the hands of the presbytery, and would not suggest its action. The vote was 22 to 11 to dissolve the relations, and Rev. Mr. Graham was authorized to declare the pulpit vacant after the first Sunday in March. A motion to adopt that portion of the committee's report requesting the elders of the church to resign, was first voted down, but after the pastor was removed it was considered carried, and a committee was appointed to notify the elders that it was the sense of the presbytery that they resign and also to have a congregational meeting called for a new election.

Rev. Mr. Graham stated that no communion had been held in his church for six months, because the elders, who were not in accord with him, would not join him in the administration of this ordinance.

Missionary Mothers' Meeting.

Rochester, Dec. 8.—There was a very interesting meeting of the ladies' local Missionary union of the Congregational churches of Allegheny, Braddock, South Side, Pittsburg and Bochester in the church of that denomination here yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Rev Edwards of South Side, Pittsburg, was the leader and opened the meeting with devotional exercises, following which Mrs. Rev. Bowden of Braddock gave a very instructive talk on "The Armenian Massacre," illustrating the same with a missionary chart, showing a location of the mission fields. Mrs. Rev Claffin of Allegheny, took up the same snbject and made an interesting address. Miss Young of Allegheny, read a short paper on 'China' and Miss Hodouck, a native Bohemian and a student of a young ladies' school at Cleveland, O., told of the work of the school and the needs of her native people Miss Adenbrook of Braddock, president of the union, also addressed the meeting.

Haggling Over the Time.

Pittsburg, Dec. 8.—John J. Quinn, the manager of Peter Maher, said to-night that he had received word from the Fitzsimmons people asking that the Maher-Fitzsimmons fight be pulled off on January 14. This Quinn could not agree to as Maher has an engagement at a New York play house on December 28. Quinn said Maher would need five weeks in which to train and for this reason the fight would have to take place on the date agreed upon.

—Elmer, son of David P. Stewart, of Juniata township, Huntingdon county, is at his father's home, suffering from gangrene on his right hand. He had been employed at the coke works in Irvona and, four weeks ago, he took hold of a hot brick at the oven, which burned the ends of his thumb and little finger. The circulation of the blood was stopped and gangrene followed. It is feared he will lose three fingers on his hand.

—The Glen Campbell Comet says that Mike McMineman who had the grading of five miles of the Pittsburg & Eastern railroad will bring suit against the company for $75,000. He claiming their engineers misrepresented the kind of work he had to grade through. Other engineers employed by Mr. McMineman have been over this portion of the line.

Registration of delegates and appointment of committees occupied the first day. Worthy Master Leodard Rhone delivered his annual address this afternoon. Twenty-five subordinate granges have been organized during the year, with a total increase in the membership of 2,399. The Great Powell.

In this progressive age of the twentieth century we are accustomed to see many wonderous and mysterious things, but the Great Powell, who is to appear at the opera house, Monday evening Dec. 16, will produce for the first time in this city his original programme of new illusions in which he will present more wonderous hings than ever and will be assisted by an excellent company. His illusions are said to have startled all Europe where he has been appearing the past summer months. Powell stands to-day at the head of all the prestidigitators of the world, and it is said by many that the world has never seen his equal. He is not only a magician but he is an inventor of rare genius and the best conversationalist to-day on the stage. Those who have read of the many wonderful things that the Fakirs of India are said to have performed will have a chance to witness them for the first time in this city on the above date.

To Make Hens Lay.

A Reading dispatch says some valuable advice to farmers is given by G. H. D. Line, who is a great chicken raiser and egg producer in Lower Alsace. His plan in brief is to make hens work for a living. Mr. Line says: "It is necessary to make hens scratch for a living. I accomplish this by feeding corn on the cob instead of shelling it. I take what I consider a necessary number of ears, split them up into small parts and throw them in to the chickens, leaving the grains of corn on the cob. This makes them work in order to secure a meal, and work of this kind is absolutely requisite to the production of eggs. I have observed this principle of feeding for some years and have been satisfied with the results, because my hens lay in fall and winter, when eggs are high in price.

The Howells Poisoning Case.

Wellsboro, Dec. 10.—In the Howells homicide case the defendant entered on the fourth day of her testimony. She told how Libble Knapp, came to her home from a neighbor's in May last, in great pain and ill, the itching and agony lasting till her death. One night Libble called the witness in and said Will Rightmire had come in and stolen her pocketbook. She repeatedly told the doctor that Rigtmire had poisoned her. The rough and rats she had, the witness had burned, because Libbie did not want her involved in any gossip if she died. The testimony was directed against the competency of the doctor in the Libbie Knapp case.

It is thought it is being done by the parties for the purpose of wrecking the trains

Rough on the Lawyers.

Justice Brewer of the United States supreme court, in an address before the American Bar Association, called attention to the crying need for a reform in the methods of administering justice in the courts. The time of trial should be shortened and the method of producing in appellate courts reformed so as to shut off legal moves that are merely intended to cause delays. He believes that in criminal case there should be no appeal. To guard against any possible wrong to an accused a board of review and pardons might be created. Speaking of lawyers Justice Brewer thinks that it would be a blessing to all true lawyers as well as the people if some Noachian deluge would engulf half of those who have a license to practice.

Chicago, Dec. 8—During the past ten days the gold reserve has been increased $200,000 through the Chicago sub-treasury by money received from country banks. Sub-treasury officials say the country banks are giving up their gold, but the city banks do not seem very anxious to help swell the reserve.

HETTY'S GLOVES.

Gus Varley was going away, like the boy in the fairly tale, to seek his fortune. Before he went he had something to say to Hetty Romer. All the summer he had idled away in her company—her'sand Rose Narrowoy's; and he was conscious that neither of the girls could guess which he liked the best; or, indeed, whether there was any more than simple, friendly liking in the matter; at least, Gus hoped so. He hoped that he had not made love to both. But then Gus was conscious enough of his powers of fascination, and both were so pretty, so sweet, so lovable. Only at last he knew for certain that he loved Hetty. This is what he had to say; this is what he could not say, because he could never find Hetty alone.

Now he had come for the last time, and he bent over Hetty, and softly whispered:

"Come out upon the porch with me, Miss Romer, won't you?"

"Come, Rose," and he had mentally ejaculated, "Confound Rose" and had sauntered out as amiably and gallantly as though the arrangement delighted him.

No chance all the evening, not one. At last, as the clock struck ten, Gus grew desperate. He sauntered to the mantel, and with his pencil scribbed a few lines on a leaf of his pocket-book, and looking about him, saw Hetty's gloves lying on a table. He knew them to be Hetty's for her color was lavender; Rose's always lemon. By and by on looking that way, he slipped his bit of paper into the palm of the right-hand glove, and rolled the left over it. At least, she must find that when she put on the gloves.

"Good-by," he said, a few minutes after. "Good-by," said every one. Then Gus was gone. Poor Gus!

"I hope he'll be successful," said old Captain Romer.

"And steady," said Aunt Abigail.

"I'm going home," said Rose, after a while. Where are my things? No, don't light a lamp. I've got them—hat, shawl and gloves. Goodby all."

But Hetty walked to the garden gate with her, and watched her trip down the lane in the moonlight. She staid there listening to the cricket's chirp, and looking at the moon.

"He's so nice, she sighed, "and perhaps we may never see him again. I wonder ——"

But she did not say what she wondered. At last she went in. A lamp was lit. The big Bible was open.

"We are waiting prayers for you," said old Captain Romer, a little sternly.

The mother tossed her a pair of gloves.

"Either Rose has worn yours or mine," she said. "Those are hers."

"She has mine," said Hetty. "It don't matter."

Then they had prayers and went to bed, but the missing gloves were the last thing on Hetty's mind.

But Rose thought of nothing else. She had taken the gloves unwittingly and had not put them on at all, but in her own room she had discovered her mistake.

"Hetty's—not mine," she thought, and stooped to pick up the piece of paper that fluttered from between them to the ground. She saw Gus Varley's name. Then her face flushed, and she read this eagerly and angrily:

"Dear Hetty—Yes, dearer to me than all the world beside, and I can find no chance to tell you so. You are never alone. I am going away and Heaven knows when I shall return or how. I do not seek to bind you by any promise to share such a doubtful future, but if prosper—if I succeed, you will share life with me? Dear Hetty, can you give me that hope—will you, if you can like me well enough, send me one little line—just your name if nothing more, or 'Yes'—anything but 'No.' Forgive this scrawling. It does not express half that I would say.

"Yours while I live,
AUGUSTUS VARLEY."

"And I thought he was in love with me," said Rose, and in rage tore the paper to atoms. "She shall never hear of it, deceitful little wretch!"

The next morning Hetty brought over her gloves. "And have you mine?" she asked.

Rose gave her back the gloves, not looking at her, and half expected to hear the love letter asked for next; but Hetty was ignorant of the letter, and there the matter ended.

Gus, having no answer, took his refusal bitterly and turned his back on the village forever, grew cynical on the subject of women, refused their society and became addicted to cigars and solitude.

Rose, jealous for a while, soon found a new admirer and married him. Hetty alone remained unchanged.

Five years passed—six, nearly seven. Gus became rich. He lived in luxury. The fact that he hated women was his only drawback.

And so, going with her husband to New York, Rose—now Mrs. Muller—saw and heard of him. She was very happy and she knew that Hetty was less blest than she. She was not really bad—and her heart smote her. Had she parted two true lovers! Then she assured herself that Gus would have followed up the thing had he really loved Hetty and that Hetty never cared for Gus. And so she went home.

Her first guest was Hetto Homer.

Rose never mentioned Gus; but her husband, blandly ignorant of all, burst out with a full account of him forthwith:

"A fellow who left here without a penny rolling in gold—living like what's his name in the Araban Nights,, you know—and a splendid a man as I ever saw. Hates women, though. Has a house full of men servants and a cook from Paris—"

And so he rattled on, never heeding Hetty's pale face, though Rose saw it. Soon Hetty, who had come for a visit, escaped to her own room; but Rose followed. She found Hetty in tears, and took her in arms.

"Tell me all, my dear," she said.

And Hetty made confessions.

"It is so foolish. I was only 17 then; but—but I loved him, and I never have forgotten him. That is why I never could think of any one else, Rose. No one know it, not even mamma. But that talk about him was too much for me. I—I thought he liked me, Rose,"

"So he did," said Rose.

"No, else he would have told me so.' Just for one moment Rose though of telling the truth. But caution overcame impulse.

"Strange things happen in this world, s he said. "Who knows? You are both young still. Good night, love!"

Then she went away—not to sleep, but to write.

"Sir,"—She wrote: "Years ago, you you made a proposition of marriage to Hetty Romer. Perhaps you would like to know she never read the note. It was destroyed by one who blushes to own the act. She would have answered yes, had it ever reached her. 'A word to the wise is sufficient.' She lives here still, and is not engaged."

She copied the note in back-hand' addressed it to Augustus Varley, and the next morning she posted it. Three days after, Gus came down to the village and went to see Hetty. What they said we can only guess by the fact that' at parting he kissed her. He had spoken just once of the past.

"You remember the night of my departure?"

"Yes," she said.

"Did anyone have your gloves that night?"

"What an odd question!" she said "My gloves! Yes, Rose Norroway, wore them home—by mistake. "Why?"

"No matter why," he said, "Perhaps I'll tell you some time, and then he kissed her again; his next call was on Rose.

She was alone—all but the baby and that counted for nothing. He came straight to the point.

"You wrote to me," he said.

"I!" she cried "Dear no," "You wore Hetty's gloves that night."

Rose blushed·

"Have you told her?" she said.

"No not yet."

She put her hand on his arm.

"I've done you a good turn,', she said, "and don't do me a bad one. I'm fond of Hetty, I don't want to quarrel with her and it was so mean."

"Tell me why you did it," he asked.

Just a moment she looked into his eyes, then burst into a laugh.

"I needn't mind now, with my good, handsome husband, and these children. I was jealous, Gus, and thought the letter ought to have been addressed to me. Come you'll not make mischief between Hetty and me."

"Never."

And he kept his promise, and until this day, Mrs. Augustus Varley does not guess why her husband was so serious about her old gloves.

Nervous Prostration

Could Not Sleep — Had No Appetite

Cured in Body and Mind by Hood's Sarsaparilla

"I suffered very much for a long time with nervous prostration. I had about given up all hopes of ever getting better when Hood's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me and I believe it my duty to let other sufferers know the benefit I derived from it. I Could Not Sleep at night, was without appetite, and what little I did eat I was unable to keep on my stomach. After taking the first bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which seemed to do me some good, I tried a second and continued to feel better. I got up feeling

'Chalk Talks."

Mrs. Ellen A. Dayton Blair, of Clinton New York, will visit Bellefonte this week and next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock she will conduct the temperance meeting which will be held in the Court house. It will be something new and interesting for Bellefonte audiences. She will also appear before the teacher's institute next Monday evening Dec. 16 and will entertain the audience with another of her delightful entertainment.

She is the national organizer of Loyal Temperance Legions under the auspice of the Y. M. C. A. and is highly endorsed by Miss Frances E Willard and others Here is a notice from the Los Angeles, Cal Voice.

Mrs. E. A. D. Blair addressed a large audience of children and grown-up people at the Fort Street M E church last Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Blair talks well, reasons well, and makes the chalk do her bidding with wonderful rapidity and at tactiveness She is trustful and cheerful while teaching the most solemn doctrines and the importance of a sound mind in a sound body. The children listened and understood and responded to her questions with a promptness which showed that the speaker was mistress of the art of teaching children. The older persons were equally pleased, and all voted her meeting a grand success, and wished that she might visit every locality in the state.

Furnacemen May Go Out.

Sharon, Pa., Dec. 9.—The blast furnacemen's Federation of Labor, in Sharon, Sharpsville, Middlesex and New Castle has served notice on the officials of the 17 furnaces in the four towns and request that it receive cognizance within the next month, or the members will go out on a strike. They ask that on Sundays and legal holidays, when they work, excepting Christmas and Fourth of July, they be paid for one and a half day's work, instead of one as heretofore. Christmas and Fourth of July they ask double pay for one day's work. This is equal to a 12 per cent. raise. A similar demand will likely be made by the Mahoning valley furnacemen. Furnacemen say they will close down their furnaces before they will submit to such an unreasonable proposition. The furnacemen, on the other hand, are also determined.

Schooboy Repartee.

The two youngsters stared hard at one another.

"What's de matter witcher?" cried one "Next time yer see me, mebbe yer'll know me."

A sneer curled the other s lips.

"I won't if yer wash year face."—Philadelphia Call.

—Geo. Henry, of Scullton, Somerset county, while playing with a pocket knife accidentally stuck the point in the ball of one of his eyes, entirely destroying the sight.

—Perhaps the finest line of goods ever brought to Bellefonte can now be seen at Lyon & Co's store on Allegheny street. It will pay you to go there and see for yourself.

—The large sawmills located near Brookville and owned by business men of that place, were burned last week, one on Monday, another on Wednesday and the third on Thursday night.

—One of the most convenient stores in Bellefonte is Lyon & Co's. You can find there anything you might think of. The line of goods is complete and the prices within the reach of everybody.

—Pendleton county, W. Va., has voted by a large majority $50,000 in bonds to secure the Chesapeakes and Western railroad. Local people added to this a half interest in 40,000 acres of mineral land and full right of way.

—Recent deaths in Indiana county are: Mrs. D. Bills, of Clarksburg, and Mr. R. Bills, her father-in-law, both being buried on the same day; Miss Nannie Simons, of Yonng township, aged 60 years; C. Smith of Indiana, aged 68, and J. Creery, of Cherrytree, aged 90 years.

Will Issue no Requisition.

Harrisburg, Dec 11.—Governor Hastings has refused to issue a requisition for Lewis Moore at the instance of the Venango county authorities. The application was argued before the governor last week.

IDLE OVENS BEING FIRED

Slight Decrease in Coke Production, But Demand Continues Good.

Uniontown, Pa,, Dec. 4.—The demand for coke still continues good, and the output would be much larger if the railroad companies could handle it. The Pennsylvania Railroad company is building new cars expressly to handle the coke trade, and the prospects for the new year are bright, so much so that operators are firing idle ovens to meet the expected increase in demand. The total production last week was 146,504 tons, a decrease o about 8,000 tons. The shipments were about 700 cars in excess of production, that much stock coke being shipped. The shipments were 9,444 cars, a decrease of 138 cars. The prospect for $2 coke is not as encouraging as it was some time ago, owing to a let up in the iron boom, and the price of coke will likely remain where it is till spring.

Places for Criminals.

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 4.—In his annual report Secretary Biddle of the state board of charities, says greater penitentiary capacity is needed. The Eastern penitentiary has, for example, fifty per cent more prisoners than it was designed to care for. The question the board is called on to decide is whether to recommend another penitentiary building or a law enacting a thorough change in the method of conducting county jails, so that many classes of criminals now sent to the penitentiaries may be confined in them. Secretary Biddle considers the jail system that prevails in most counties deplorable. He thinks it would be better for the state to contribute something toward bettering the jails in each county than to spend a large sum erecting a penitentiary.

Secretary Biddle renews previous recommendations for a hospital for epileptics, and notes the approach of the completion of the Home for Feeble minded Children at Polk, Pa. He considers that the hospitals and charitable institutions of the state are for the most part well managed.

In referring to the efforts made at the last session of the legislature to pass an act to create a state department of charities, Mr. Biddle says: "Such a department would necessarily change with each administration and would bring about a condition of instability undesirable in the prosecution of the required duties."

The committee on lunacy is complimented for the manner in which it has conducted its work the past yerr.

Pennsylvania Interests Involved.

Allentown, Pa., Dec. 4.—Letters received here from Cuba conveyed the information that the extensive Manganez mines near Santiago, Cuba, and owned by Lehigh Valley capitalists, are endangered by the war on that island. Recently the revolutionists burned all the railroad bridges leading to the mines and then pressed the workingmen into service. Six of them refused and were executed on the spot. The revolutionists were in control of the mines until a large force of Spanish soldiers was sent there and drove them out. The bridges were rebuilt and a force of 2,000 Spanish soldiers is constantly at the mines.

May Check the Thistle.

The Canada thistle runs deep roots and needs deep down moisture to keep it growing. The present drouth has gone deep nto the earth which deprives the thistle root of its nourishment, thus killing some and checking the growth of others, and with a little vigorous fighting on the part of the farmers much could be done now to destroy this greatest of all our weed pests. The drouth may have been a good thing in this line while it has caused much suffering for want of water.

Coughs,

* Consumption.

The greatest cause of terror of the present day, formerly considered hopeless, is now conceded by the best physicians as curable under proper conditions. Its cause—a depleted condition of the system; a mal-assimilation of food; a wasting away of the tissues; an impoverishment of the blood. The result—a diseased condition of all the organs of the body; a formation of eating ulcers; and the result death from collapse or hemorrhage. But the cure is that greatest concentration into the least possible bulk of the vital elements of lean, raw beef. It is absorbed and nourishes with the least possible effort on the part of the stomach. It creates new tissue, enriches the blood, makes flesh, and by strengthening the great vital centres of the body enables them to perform their functions in a natural manner, and dispel disease. Thousands owe their life to its use.

A Significant Departure.

With the departure of another year when a review is made of the condition of affairs, it is only right that some thought be given to the physical body which enables everyone to battle with life's problem and figure for themselves the profit or loss on the trial balance sheet. Though the bank account may be large and each one's material gain be great, it would not be surprising if it dawns upon many that good health has been greatly impoverished by the low condition of the blood. It is in this state that the lactic acid in the vital fluid attacks the fibrous tissues, particularly the joints, making known the local manifestations of rheumatism. Thousands of people have found in Hood's Sarsaparilla the the great blood purifier, a positive and permanent cure for rheumatism.

One Boy Killed.

Lebanon, Pa., Dec. 6.—A frightful accident occurred on West Lebanon street to-day, resulting in the death of Joseph, aged 6, son of Joseph Light, and probable fatal injuries to John Meily, aged 8, and Harry Dohner, aged 6. The boys were on their way home from school and were stealing a ride on the tongue of a wagon filled with cinder, driven by another wagon to which was hitched four mules. The boys were ordered off by the driver and in their hurry to get away all three fell, the wheels of the rear wagon passing over their bodies. Young Light was killed almost instantly, the wheels passing over his head.

Stood the Test.

Bethlehem, Pa., Dec. 6.—Robert P. Linderman, president of the Bethlehem Iron Company, to-day received from Lieut. Meigs, engineer of ordinance for the company, a cablegram stating that a very successful test of armor plate had been made at the czar's proving grounds at Ochta, Polyglon, near St. Petersburg, Russia. The plate was selected from a group of side armor for the battle ship Sebastopol and subjected to the most severe test possible. The projectile penetrations were very slight and there were no cracks. The test resulted in the Russian government accepting 550 tons of harveyized armor plate. The test proved that American honor is without a doubt the best made in the world,

The market is full of cough mixtures, but one trouble with most of them is that when they do a little good the patient has to take so much that he gets to loathe the taste. The Pineola Balsam is superior to other cough remedies because it is agreeable to the palate and its good effects are immediate. In a few days an ordinary cough is gone altogether. Bronchitis and asthma are more stubborn, but they too are cured by Ely's Pineola Balsam. A remedy worth trying. Twenty-five cents is all it costs.

A Girl's Essay on Boys.

Boys are men who have not got as big as their papas, and girls are women that will be ladies by and by. Man was made before woman. When God looked at Adam he said to himself, "Well I think I can do better if I try again." And he made Eve. God liked Eve so much better than Adam that there have been more women than men. Boys are a trouble. They wear out everything but soap. If I had my way half the world would be girls, the rest dolls. My papa is so nice that I think he must have been a little girl when he was a little boy. Man was made, and on the seventh day he rested. Woman was made, and she never rested since.

"Give me a man with an aim,
Whatever that aim may be
Whether its wealth, or whether its fame,
It matters not to me."

Half the aimless lives are due to lassitude of body caused by disordered liver. To keep your liver in order and so prevent evil accumulations in your blood, to make you feel light and right and bright from morning till night, to make sleep sweet, and keep your system complete take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They cure constipation, indigestion, billiousness, sick headache and kindred disturbances.

Mr. Wright Is O. K.

Allentown, Pa., Dec. 6.—Chairman Robert E, Wright, of the democratic state committee, who was yesterday stricken with a congestive chill and overcome while trying a case in court, came to court this morning but soon returned to his home. He is up and about the house and will be all right after a few days rest.

Charged With Murder.

Pittsburg, Dec. 6.—Police Officer Metz at the Pittsburg and Lake Erie depot, today arrested M. C. Judd, who is charged with killing Mr. Huff at Mahoningtown last night. Judd will be taken to New Castle this evening. Judd says he shot in self defense.

The Standard remedy for all stomach and liver complaints is Ripan's Tabules. One Tabule gives relief, but in severe cases one should be taken after each meal until the trouble has disappeared, —The authorities of Juniata borough, a suburb of Altoona city, propose to put a quietus on foot ball within the borough limits by enacting an ordinance prohibiting it.

SOME AMOUNTS SHOWN.

Solicitor Ambrose's Speculations Were Many.

Altoona, Pa., Dec. 6.—Nothing is known here as yet as to the whereabouts of City Solicitor Ambrose, but some of his misdoings are coming to light. Some time ago Selverter Bender drew $1,582 from a building association, and gave it to Mr. Ambrose to satisfy a mortgage against his property. Instead of doing this it has been found that he appropriated the money for his own use, and Mr. Bender still has the mortgage on his property, as well as the money to pay back to the building association. He also secured as endorsers on his notes Sheriff Bell for $700; ex-Sheriff Hughes for $250; James Flynn for $1,600 and B, M. Bunker for $400, and these gentlemen now have been called upon to pay over the money.

Wouldn't Trust a Jury.

Potteville, Dec. 6.—This afternoon Judge Lynch, of Luzerne county, specially presiding in the Schuylkill county courts this week in the trial of the case of J F Paul, of Gordon, vs, the Philadelphia and Reading railroad company for $15,000 damages for permanent personal injuries took the case from the jury who had been sitting since Monday morning and directed a verdict for the defendant company.

On Sept. 22, 1881, Paul, the plaintiff, who was conductor on the defendant's railroad, was on his coal train going up a heavy grade from Gordon to Locust Summit. A water train, with large cylinder boilers loaded on trucks, was on ahead of the coal train. On the last car there were three of these cylinders, one on top of two others. This car broke loose and started down the grade and ran into the engine of the coal train, killing two of his crew. jumped from the engine for his life, but was hurled against the wreck and sustained injuries to his spine which rendered him a cripple for life. It was held that the car had a defective brake and had been in the shop only the day before.

Durant Not In It.

San Francisco, Dec. 6.—Judge Murphy, this morning, denied the motion for a new trial in he case of W. H. T. Durrant, convicted of the murder of Blanche Lamont and ordered that he be turned over to the warden at San Quentin penitentiary to be kept until the day has been fixed for passing sentence upon him.

Judge Murphy said he approved the verdict of the jury, it being the only one that could have been rendered under the circumstances. The defense gave notice of an appeal.

An Unruly Conductor.

The Tyrone Herald says: G H Corbin, for a number of years a passenger conductor on the Huntingdon and Broadtop railroad, but discharged from that service in 1893, is now in the Huntingdon jail. Since his discharge he has become a heavy drinker and has frequently threatened to take the life of General Manager Gage. One night last week five switches were turned on the road which resulted in a freight wreck. The charges against Gorbin are very serious ones.

The Naval Academy a Disgrace.

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 6.—Commodore Matthews has made a report to Secretary of the Navy Herbert upon his recent investigations of the condition of the naval academy. The report states that the academy is a shame to the nation and a disgrace to the navy. The educational departments are all right, but the accomodations are most miserable. It is recommended that every building now in use by the cadets be razed. Several of the structures have been condemned as unsafe, unhealthy and ill adapted for their purposes. On the whole the report sums up the academy as in a bad plight and demands the prompt attention of congress.

The plant proposed for improvements contemplates the expenditure of about $6,000,000, but only comparatively small amounts would be required for each year. Commodore Matthews will urge that the general plan of reconstruction and rehabilitation be approved, and that $100,000 be approved at this session of congress to begin the work. Secretary Herbert is now considering the report.

—On Dec. 8th, 1853 our fellow townsman Mr. William Shortlidge arrived in Bellefonte, Pa., and spent his first night at the Conrad House. The first gentleman with who he made his acquaintance was Henry P. Harris. On the 9th or the day following his arrival here, Captain William Bible conveyed him in a buggy to the Howard Iron Works, owned and operated by Irwin, Thomas & Co., to whom Mr. Shortlidge had apprenticed himself for a period of three years to be taught business. With the exception of two years, Mr. Shorlidge has been engaged in the Iron and Lime business of this county, and has contributed all his efforts to the employment of men, and bringing an income from the consumers of lime in several states to this place. He has voted at eighty-eight elections, forty-two of them state elections forty one of them spring elections, and five presidential elections that were held separate and apart from state elections, prior to the adoption of the Constitution of 1873. He has only failed to attend two elections: The spring election of 1854, because he was not acquainted with the people in Howard township at that time, and he was absent from the county when the election was held to adopt the constitution of 1873.

Scott's Emulsion makes cod-liver oil taking next thing to a pleasure. You hardly taste it. The stomach knows nothing about it—it does not trouble you there. You feel it first in the strength that it brings: it shows in the color of the cheek, the rounding of the angles, the smoothing of the wrinkles.

It is cod-liver oil digested for you, slipping as easily into the blood and losing itself there as rain-drops lose themselves in the ocean.

What a satisfactory thing this is—to hide the odious taste of cod-liver oil, evade the tax on the stomach, take health by surprise.

There is no secret of what it is made of—the fish-fat taste is lost, but nothing is lost but the taste.

Perhaps your druggist has a substitute for Scott's Emulsion. Isn't the standard all others try to equal the best for you to buy?

Judge Ewing's Decision.

Judge Ewing, of Uniontown, Pa., in endering his decision in a case for damages resulting from an accident to a cyclist by the roads being in a bad condition, says:

"As townships are by law compelled to keep the country roads in repair, they are responsible for keeping them in such order that the cyclist can ride over them in safety on his vehicle, and any injury that results to a bicycle rider by reason of a poor road will be the basis of an action for damages against the township."

A couple of years ago a similar case was tried in Washington. As a cyclist was riding along the street after dark his wheel got into a hole or rut in the pavement which caused the rider to fall, breaking a limb, and the courts decided that the city was liable to damages.

"There is hardly a township in the United States," says the Referee, "which does not contain at least one resident bicycler owner, and the chances are that there are few which have less than a dozen. When township, village or city authorities shall be convinced that what Judge Ewing has said is true, that they are to be held responsible for accidents to machine or person arising from bad highways, it will not be long before the era of road making will set in with a vengeance."

Who Murdered This Hungarian?

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Dec. 5.—John Piekonis, Anthony Marishnez and William Awaitus were brought before Judge Woodward on habeas corpus proceedings today. The prisoners were charged with the murder of a Hungarian named Siewiez, who was found on the Lehigh Valley railroad tracks in Pittston a few months ago. The man was buried, it being thought that he had been killed by a locomotive. Rumors of foul play were heard soon after the burial and the county detective had the remains exhumed, when an examination showed three bullet wounds on the dead body. At the hearing no evidence connecting the prisoners with the crime could be brobght out and they were discharged.

The Next G. A. R. Encampment.

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 5.—Commander-in-Chief Walker, Adjutant Robbing, Quartermaster Gen. Burbank, Assistant Gen. Smock and the executive committee of the council of administration of the G A R arrived here yesterday and met the local committee to discuss the encampment of 1896.

The hotel Kyan was made headquarters. It was found that the St. Paul body had already been actively at work and that it was confident of its ability to raise the $75,000 necessary for the encampment. A disposition to co-operate had been found in Minneapolis, Duluth, and smaller cities of the state.

All in the Boom.

The Lock Haven Express says: The four million feet of logs that were stranded between this city and Williamsport are now in the boom at that place. The splash that was left off here yesterday morning carried the last of the logs to the boom with the exception of a few which lodged on a bar below Jersey Shore. They wil be hauled over the bar by horses. The river is frozen over the Linden.

Gettysburg, Pa., Dec. 4.—Governor Hastings and Mrs. Hastings, Auditor General Mylin and State Treasurer Jackson, with Colonel Nicholson, General Taylor and Major Hartshorne, of the Pennsylvania Gettysburg commission are here inspecting the battlefield. They will remain until to-morrow.

A CASE OF SUSPENDED ANIMATION

The Presumed Corpse Sat Up When the Undertaker Began Work.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Dec. 5.—The people residing in the neighborhood of the Phoenix mine, in Duryea, were thrown into a state of excitement to-day when they learned of a case of suspended animation.

Mrs. Remenski, a widow, was taken suddenly ill on Monday night. Everything was done by her friends to aid her, but she continued to sink and was apparently dead on Tuesday afternoon, though there had been no physician called to examine or prescribe for her. An undertaker was called to-day to prepare the body for burial and a coffin was brought to the house.

Later on the undertaker began his arrangements to inject embalming fluid into the body, and when the syringe touched the flesh the corpse opened its eyes and looked about the room in astonishment at what was going on among the weeping relatives. The undertaker, who was very much frightened, ran from the house, procured a physician and, with considerable effort, the woman was restored to consciousness, and this afternoon she is able to sit up and converse with her many callers. The physician says it was a case of suspended animation. The woman is about 45 years of age and has always been in good health. The affair has aroused much interest.

Railroads of Pennsylvania.

Harrisburg, Dec. 5.—The serious effect of the hard times on the railways of Pennsylvania is shown by their revenue accounts and the falling off in the percentage of increase of cost of road and equipment. The total cost of roads and equipment reported to the department of internal affairs for the fiscal year ended June 30 is $1.579,857,032. A comparison with the five preceding years is interesting, as it shows at a glance the increase of capitalization necessitated by new construction, extensions and betterments.

The total cost of Pennsylvania roads and equipment in 1890 was $1,308,043,742, 1891 $1,412,642,276; 1894, $1,503,242,958; 1893 $1,519,314,868; 1894, $1,538,501,235. Secretary Latta says this shows most conclusively that there has been but little inducement to make further investment in railway construction or improvements beyond what has been actually necessary for proper maintenance of the lines.

In considering the cost per mile of railroads Secretary Latta says "the Pennsylvania is acknowledged both in Europe and America to be the most perfect railway organization on the globe."

They Should Have Known Better.

Lancaster, Pa., Dec. 5.—Edward Welsh, Frank Fitzkey, George Howard, George Miller and Frank Welsh, sons of well-to-do parents, who were convicted of robbing the store of Amos Hershey & Brothers, at Gordonville, were to-day sentenced to terms in prison ranging from a year and a half to six years years and a half. They would probably have received heavier sentences had not the jury recommended them to the mercy of the court.

Granted Their Demands.

Johnstown, Pa., Dec. 5.—The House coal miners' strike which has been in progress here for several days, was ended to-day by the operators granting the 10 per cent increase which was asked. The new schedule, which will give the diggers 75 cents per ton instead of 65 cents as heretofore, will go into effect Monday morning.

Will Resume work.

Sharon, Pa., Dec. 5.—The Stuart Iron company's mill, after an idleness of over one year, resumed operation in every department.

—Geo. Gough, an attendant at the Dunning Insane asylum, in Chicago, was yesterday found guilty of manslaughter for the murder of Geo. Pucik, a patient, last August. Gough was given seven years' imprisonment.

—Mrs. W. Chisholm, of Rochester N Y. appeals to the district attorney of that city to stop the appearance of bloomer-clad women on the streets. She says the wearing of bloomers is running young girls by the hundred.

Know Thyself.

How important this injunction to every young man? How many ruin their health and future happiness through pernicious practices contracted in ignorance and repented of when too late. Parents, guardians and humanitarians can do no better service to the rising generation, than to place in their hands the information and warnings contained in a little book carefully prepared by an association of medical gentlemen, who have had vast experience in dealing with the grave maladies here hinited at, and who feel that they owe it to humanity to warn the young of the land against certain destructive habits which are far more prevalent than any lay man can possibly imagine, and which if persisted in, gradually undermine the constitution and health, and destroy the future happiness of the victim. Cut out this notice and enclose it with ten cents in stamps (to pay postage) to World's Dispensary Medical Association. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N Y, and the book will be sent, secure from observation in a plain sealed envelope.

Others Thing

Pittsburg, Dec. 4.—James Graham, aged 33 years is at the West Penn hospital in a dying condition, the result of an effort to save a wife from her husband's violence. The author of the deadly work is David Rush, of 604 Butler street, and a drunken fit of anger is responsible for the tragedy. Rush celebrated his 59th birthday last night by entertaining a number of friends. He became intoxicated and abused his wife. Graham interfered and was terribly cut with a pocket knife. He received no medical attention until this morning and was near dead from the loss of blood when discovered. Rush was committed without bail.

Released on Bail.

Pittsburg, Dec. 6—Coal Operator D A Stein, sentence to jail for three months and pay a fine of $500 for using false weights and defective scales at his mines, this afternoon released from jail, where he has been since Monday, on an order of the superior court. Bail was given in $2,000. The case will be heard at Scranton in Jan.

On Their Dignity.

Harrisburg, Dec. 6.—The state board of agriculture has decided to reject the legislature's appropriation of $2,000 for traveling and the other necessary expenses in order to continue its existence as a board. The legislature cut down the appropriation and contemplated abolishing the board by retiring one-third of the members annually. The members will pay their own expenses and ask the next legislature to reimburse them.

Seized by a Chill.

Harrisburg, Dec. 6,—Governor Hastings was seized with a chill while at Gettysburg yesterday and he was not at the department to-day. It was announced that he had gone out of the city but those at the department expressed ignorance as to his whereabouts.

Advice to Millers.

The Northwestern Miller advises all millers, using the patent roller process, not to pay the penalty of $100 that has recently been demanded by a claimant, who says the process is an infringement on his patent. The Miller backs its advice by the statement that a western judge has thrown the case out of court.

Few people know that all plants contain digestive principles. They cannot absorb their food until it is digested any more than animals can. The Mount Lebanon Shakers have learned the art of extracting and utilizing these digestive principles, and it is for this reason that their Shaker Digestive Cordial is meeting with such phenomenal success in the treatment of dyspepsia. The Shaker Digestive Cordial not only contains food already digested, but it also contains digestive principles which aid the digestion of other foods that may be eaten with it. A single 10 cent sample bottle will be sufficient to demonstrate its value, and we suggest that every suffering dyspeptic make a trial of it. Any druggist can supply it.

Laxol is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in place of Castor Oil.

—The Philipsburg hospital now has ten patients under its care. The latest admissions are Josiah Stevens, aged 36, and George Stevens, his son, aged 18, who were injured in a mine by a fall of coal. The father had his right thigh broken and the son was crushed across the back and hips.

—Huff, in Indiana county, just across the river from New Florence, had an elopement the other day. Miss Bessie Howard fell in love with James Rose, an Italian, who was employed on the construction of the West Penn extension. Her mother wisely objected to her company and the foolish girl eloped with the foreigner.

—At Portage the Pennsylvania Railroay company has a force of carpenters at work erecting a new station, which will be larger than the present one. The new one is being built a few feet east of the old one. It is said the company has decided to straighten that line of road between Portage and Lilly and that $1,500,000 will be spent in completing the work.

A LARGE FUNERAL.

Impressive Services Over the Remains of Rev. Woodcock.

The funeral services over the remains of Rev. J. A. Woodcock were held on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late residence on Linn street. Probably there has never before been a death in Bellefonte that caused such general true sorrow as that of Rev. Woodcock; and the large number of grief stricken friends that assembled there to pay their respects to the dead showed that they fully realized that they had lost one of the best citizens Bellefonte ever had. Long before the appointed hour, the friends commenced to arrive and soon the house was crowded with a multitude of sorrowing people. They were not only from Bellefonte, but from distant places also. Men of every calling in life were there to take a last look at he who was so soon to be taken from their midst forever. The pall caused by this death seemed to extend over everybody. As the people passed into the room and out again after taking a last look, there were but few who did not linger at the bier, loth to leave. The casket, which was a beautiful one covered with black satin, rested in the south east parlor. At the head was placed a beautiful cross of white roses while at the foot were pure white flowers placed there by kind hands. They were gifts from loving friends and neighbors. A handsome wreath and cross bore the words "M. E. S. S." It was the gift of the Sunday School, in which Rev. Woodcock was always a constant and untiring member. The assemblage at the funeral was made up of people of every church and religion; and the tears they shed betokened their grief over the great loss to the whole community. Many of the ministers in town were there to extend their deep sympathy to the family of their deceased brother. The many high tributes paid to the departed one showed that his goodness of heart and purity of spirit were known and fully appreciated in many places. A choir composed of Misses Twitmire, Harper and Moore and Messrs. Blanchard, Bullock and Pianoist Goodwin rendered sweet and appropriate music. The first anthem, "The Radiant Morn Hath Passed Away," seemed to add more sorrow to the occasion. Revs. D. S. Monroe, of Altoona; W. A. Houck, of Hazleton; M. L. Gonoe, of Altoona; G. H. King, of Milesburg; A. R. Miller, of Philipsburg, and Dr. William Laurie, J. W. Rue and R. L. Gerhart, of Bellefonte, conducted the last rites over their departed brother. The funeral was in charge of the Heptasophs, the deceased being a member of that organization. The pall bearers were W. T. Twitmire, John Ardell, F. W. Crider, John Olewine, Austin Curtin and H. H. Harshberger. The services at the grave were very impressive; and as the large concourse of sorrowing friends slowly winded its way out of the grave the dead they every one seemed to feel that they had left behind one whose place would be impossible to fill.

The body must be well nourished now, to prevent sickness. If your appetite is poor take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

—The river at Lock Haven is frozen from shore to shore. It is yet however not fit for skating.

CATARRH

COLD IN HEAD

Harper's Bazaar
IN 1896

The twenty-ninth year of Harper' Bazaar, beginning in January, 1896, finds it maintaining its deserved reputation both as a Fashion Journal and a weekly periodical for home reading.

Every week the Bazaar presents beautiful toilettes for various occasions, Sandoz, Baude, and Chaplus illustrate and engrave the newest designs from the finest models in Paris and Berlin. New York Fashions epitomizes current styles in New York. A fortnightly pattern-sheet suppliment with diagrams and directions enables women to cut and make their own gowns, and is of great value to the professional modiste as well as to the amateur dress-maker. Children's Clothing receives constant attention. Fashions for men are described in full detail by a man about-town. Our Paris Letter, by Katherine De Forrest, is a sprightly weekly recital of fashion gossip, and social doings in Paris, given by a clever woman in an entertaining way.

Both the serials for 1896 are the work of American women. "Mrs. Gerald," by Maria Louise Pool, is a striking story of New England life. Mary E. Wilkins, in "Jerome, a Poor Man," discusses the always interesting problems of the relation between labor and capital. Short stories will be written by the best authors.

Special departments. Music, The Outdoor woman, Personals, What we Are Doing, Women and Men, report and discuss themes of immediate interest.

Answers to Correspondents. Questions receive the personal attention of the editor, and are answered at the earliest possible date after their receipt.

The Volumes of the Bazaar begin with the first Number for January of each year. When no time is mentioned, subscriptions will begin with the number current at the time of recipt of order.

Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

BROKE THROUGH THE ICE.

Students Have a Chilling Experience.

On Monday afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock Miss Lamberson and a young man named Campbell were skating on the river above Sixth street. While coming across the stream from the island to this side both broke through the ice. The young man succeeded in climbing on to the ice in a few minutes, but his fair companion was not so fortunate. Joseph Winslow, a teamster saw her perilous position and hastily ran out to where she was struggling in the water. He attempted to reach her with a board, but stepping to far out on the thin ice, he also broke through. He then called for a rope, which a boy named McNerney threw to him. With the aid of this rope Mr. Winslow succeeded in rescuing the young lady. As she had been shoulder deep in the water a considerable length of time she was nearly exhausted when taken out. She was assisted to the house of Robert Lowry where the necessary remedies were applied. Miss Lamberson has been exceedingly unfortunate in breaking through the ice, as this is the third experience of this character that she has had this season. The next day the young lady was reported as being in her usual health.—Lock Haven Democrat.

STRUCK BY AN ENGINE.

James Whitaker Meets With an Accident at Valentines Furnace.

Thursday morning about 9 o'clock, James Whitaker who is employed at Valentine's Furnace, met with an accident that might have cost him his life. As it was he sustained severe injuries about his head, arms and hips. It seems that he was doing some work about a car when an engine backed up and Whitaker failing to get out of the road soon enough, was struck and knocked to the side of the track. He was picked up at once and removed to his home in a carriage. An examination was made and it was found that although no bones were broken yet he was badly bruised about the head and arms. His hips were also badly sprained. It was a very narrrow escape and the only wonder is that he was not instantly killed. A representative of the Daily News called at the home of the injured man and found him resting as easy as could be expected although he suffers considerable pain. It is sincerely hoped that his injuries will not confine him to the house very long and that he will soon be able to be at his post soon again.

Look Upon the Nose and You can See the Catarrh Irritation.

The part of the nasal passages affected by Catarrh is always the membrane of the nose, and in a common cold this can be seen to be reddened and frequently covered with mucous. This disease surface can be so readily seen, that any inexperienced observer, in a good light, can see the diseased membrane in the nose. Later on the disease can be seen in the throat, after it has passed through the nasal passeges and back and down the throat to the tonsils, which are enlarged, and the surrounding membrane is reddened and filled with little pale white elevations. This is yet an uncomplicated, simple catarrh, which can be readily and surely relieved by the appreciation of Pretzingers' Catarrh Balm. If this Balm be applied to the membrane of the nose in such a quantity that it can be drawn back into the head, the whole of the diseased surface above described will be bathed with this healing ointment, and such an application repeated twice a day, will speedily effect a cure, even of chronic catarrh as above described. The length of time required for the treatment of simple, uncomplicated catarrh, will vary with the stage at which the treatment is begun. A simple cold in the head, where the disease is confined to the nasal passages, will yield to treatment over night, but after the disease has extended beyond the nasal passages and into the throat, it may require from ten days to two weeks of treatment to thoroughly relieve the condition. This Balm costs but fifty cents, and can be had at any drug store, or Pretzinger Bros. Chemists, Dayton Ohio, who manufacture this remedy, will send same on receipt of price, or a small sample for a 2c. stamp.

Had His Leg Broken.

A painful accident happened Wednesday about half past eight o'clock by which Harry Grubb had his right leg broken. It seems that Grubb is a car driver employed at Morris' Lime Kilns and while driving a car this morning it dumped and Grubb jumped off but unfortunately on the wrong side of the car. He was caught by the heavy weight and his right leg broken above the knee. The unfortunate boy was removed to his home where the fractured limb was set and the latest reports were that he was resting as easy as could be expected.

AN ARGUMENT.

They Almost Came to Blows—The Trouble Soon Discovered and Everything Now all Right

It was a quarrel amongst the organs of a mans body.

The man was sick, and his doctors did'nt know what ailed him or how to cure him.

The Liver and Lungs, the Sgleen, the stom ache and the heart all "pitched into" the Kidneys,

"It's your fault," said the Liyer. You have certain work to do and you don't do it. It's your place to filter all the poisons and impurities out of the body, and you are not doing it.

"As a consequence," said the Stomach, "we are all being clogged, poisoned and irritated. I am irritable and only half digest the food they are forcing into me. Here's the Liver all clogged and torpid, the Lungs all choked up, we don't get half enough oxygen, the Head is aching, the Nerves tingling, the Back is aching, and the poor heart is laboring like a sledge-hammer

"Even the Joints and Muscles cry out with rheumatic pains."

"But we can't help it," said the Kidneys, "We can't do impossibilities. We are sick and weak ourselves and cannot do our work. Of course these poisons collect in the blood and irritate and disease you. The moment we stop work you feel it. Your health always did and always will depend on our activity.

And just then an ordinary, every day, common sense doctor who knew his business was called in and prescribed Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills.

The kidneys promptly responded and set cheerfully to work with renewed strength and vigor; the Uric acid, the waste products of decay and fever, the ashes of digestions and all the poisons and impurities in the blood were cast out.

"Well that's something like it," said the Lungs. "I'll pitch in and do my work now," said the Stomach.

"What a relief," said the Liver and the Heart, and the Joints and Muscles joined the chorus.

The quarrel was over. It was a happy family, working harmoniously once more.

This sounds like a fairy story, but it isn't. Its cold, hard, solid facts and common sense.

And you can prove it to your satisfaction at any time for 50 cents.

Fifty cents per box, from all druggists, or enclose 50 cents in stamps or silver direct to the Resolutions of respect on the death of William Thompson, Sr., worthy Lecturer of Victor Grange No. 159 P. of H.

Whereas it has pleased almighty God in his wise providence to remove from our midst our Esteemed brother, therefore be it.

Resolved that we, the members of victor Grange No. 159, P. of H., sincerely mourn our loss that in the death of our brother, this Grange has lost one of its most active members, ready at all times to promote the interest of the Order, a man whose virtues endeared him not only to the members of the Grange but to all with whom he came into contact with.

Resolved therefore whilst the Order and Community deeply feel the loss of a most honorable christian citizen and neighbor let us ever follow his example and yield to HIM who doeth all things well,

Resolved that our charter be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days, and that these resolutions be published in the county papers.

Magic and Mystery.

The Great Powell will produce for the amusement and instruction of the patrons of Garman's opera house on Monday evening Dec. 16 some of the most marvelous achievements known to modern times in the realms of unique presitidigitation, illusory illustrations, and spiritualistic phenomena. By extending his researches far beyond the domain of the ordinary magician, Powell has been able to penetrate the most hidden secrets of his art, and will illustrate the most wonderful feats of the Orientals, and the theory of Theosophists of Mahatma, so that his performances here will be rich in new and wonderful productions. You have never witnessed anything like the wonderful entertainment Powell will bring for your amusement and delectation.

Remarks.

—The people of Falls Creek can say what few other towns can—they live in two congressional districts, and their town lies in two counties.

—The mines of the Cambria & Clearfield region are working as they have not done for years. Immense qualities of coal and coke pass through Cresson daily.

—The Philadelphia and Erie railroad, for Oct. after paying taxes gained net $44,621, making the net increase for the ten months ended Oct. 31, $118,582.

—William Chatham, an employe of the ax factory at Mill Hall, was the victim of a serious accident on Saturday. He was about to drive a nail into a board when the nail bounded, striking him in the left eye and completely destroying the sight.

—The Philipsburg Ledger says: The coal business still continues good. Every mine, big and little, in the region is working full time, unless hampered for want of cars, and good miners are in demand. We are told by a man who knows, that the pay on Dec. 15 will be one of the largest semi-monthly pays ever disbursed in this locality.
